Peace is Restored in Bowling Convention After Bitter Fight

EASTERN MEN WALK OUT AND BACK AGAIN

Launch Movement to Form New Organization and Their Fight Will Be Revived Today on that Question.

BUFFALO, Jan. 23.-The split in the American Bowling congress, which had been threatening since the body convened here in annual session, came this afternoon when the eastern delegates left the hall in a body and declined to take any part in the consideration of matters before the convention. The western delegates then elected the following officers: President, Frank L. Pasdeloup, Chicago; first vice president, W. V. Thompson, Chicago; second vice president, M. A. Phillips, St. Louis; secretary, Samuel Karpen, Dayton, O.; treasurer, George M. Stearns, Des Moines, Ia.

Soon after the congress convened for the morning session the chair put a motion to declare the election of officers in order. Following a division of the congress the chairman declared the motion lost. The eastern delegates disputed the decision and a motion to adjourn sine die carried, no officers having been elected.

Leave Important Business. The important business of the congress being left thus untouched, the executive committee was called together and succeeded in restoring order and reconvening the congress.

The report of the executive committee was adopted. It admitted thirty-eight new leagues to the congress. The Rochester Bowling league was refused admission, as it contained but five of the six clubs necessary to eligibility.

Then, amid many protests, an adjournment until 4 o'clock was ordered. It was 4:50 o'clock when the delegates met after recess. Bernard J. York at once ordered a substitute for article xv, regarding the vote by proxy. Mr. Sterns, for the west, vigorously opposed the motion. President Langhenry called for a vote, and Secretary Karpen proceeded to call the roll. Protest on Repeating Vote.

After one delegate had voted three times an eastern delegate made a point of order, which was overruled, President Langhenry maintaining that a delegate could vote as many times as he represented an organization having a membership in the congress and could show the proper credentials. The eastern delegate then left the hall in a body.

The eastern men got together later and a committee of five was appointed to report tomorrow on the practicability and advisability of forming a new organization in the east. Meanwhile the bowling tournament goes on as if nothing had ocgress. The five men teams were disposed of tonight and the alleys were turned over to the two men teams.

The Fidelia Bowling club of New York won first money ($230) in the five men team class with a score of 2,792, which is a new Pneumonia is a treacherous disease and often baffles the skill of physicians; pneumonia symptoms are prolonged chill, headache, accompanied by nausea and vomiting. Unless promptly checked, pneumonia results fatally. Before the symptoms develop Duffy Mait Whiskey should be taken.

Gentlemen: It is with great pleasure that I write to inform you that I have used eight bottles of your Pure Mait Whiskey. I would not have been here today only for your wonderful medicine. I have used all kinds of cough syrups and been under the care of doctors. I have had three severe attacks of grip and pneumonia, which left me with a bad cough and weak heart. I am 67 years old. It has toned up my system and stopped the hemorrhages and I cough but very little. I only regret I did not know of your whiskey before. I cannot express what It has done for me. I beg to remain yours respectfully.

DAN CREEDON IS WHIPPED

Old Man Loses Hard-Fought Battle in Ninth Round to Al Wein-

HOT SPRINGS. Ark., Jan. 22.—Al Weining and Dan Creedon fought nine of the hardest rounds here tonight ever witnessed in the city, and when, in the ninth round, Benny Murphy, trainer and second for Creedon, threw a sponge into the ring, Weining was declared the winner. The fight was for $1,000.

A local man backed Creedon for $500 against a like amount of Weining's money. Both men fought fast and hard from the beginning and during the early rounds it seemed nothing but Creedon, but he could not keep up the fast pace he set and after the fifth round he was kept busy trying to-avoid a knockout. Weining was fresh at the end, and but for some bad gashes on his face seemed little the worse for wear, while Creedon, now nearly 40 years old, was all but ready to drop.

Creedon announces his retirement from the ring.

Holden May Wrestle Loch.

Heiden May Wrestle Lock.

It is now probable that John Holden, the well-known local middleweight wrestler, will be substituted for Frank Greenman to meet Peter Loch in a preliminary bout, preceding the Whittaker-Smith glove contest at the Trocadero next Saturday night, Loch offered Greenman a handicap to offset the sprained thumb, but the latter has not accepted the new conditions. Holden says he is willing to go on instead. He is much heavier than Loch, but the willy German is confident of holding his own. These men met before, and after a terrific struggle of more than an hour agreed to declare it a draw. Great interest will attach to their next bout because of this rivalry.

Bowlers from Out of Town. Bowling teams from out of town are now frequenting the Omaha alleys with considerable regularity. They come here to get the benefit of perfect alleys, which they cannot find elsewhere in the state. On next Saturday night the first team from Denison, Ia., will play a picked local team on Clark's alleys, and immediately afterward the team from Dunlap, Ia., will meet the Denisons, win or lose, on the same alleys.

Quest of Homostake Ledges by Belt Development Company.

ELKHORN EXCAVATIONS UNCOVER ORE

Spearfish Puts in Steam Transportstion System-Keystone Has the Best Winter's Business in Its History.

LEAD, S. D., Jan. 21 .- (Special.) -The drift from the bottom of the Kirk shaft of the Belt Development company is between 150 and 200 feet in length, cross-cutting the slates, in quest of some of the Homestake ledges. It is running in a northeasterly direction, toward the south line of the Home stake, and is cutting the formation at right angles. The Belt company intends to continue the drift in this direction for some distance yet, and then to change its course to the northwest. The shaft is 700 feet deep and is well equipped for work, having a steam hoist and cage for handling the ore cars. The progress of the company is being watched with great interest by mining men of the Black Hills.

Developments will demonstrate the accuracy or fallacy of the opinions that have been expressed in the past and adhered to by numerous mining men regarding the Homestake ledges.

A majority have contended that the ledges were continuous for miles across the country and that deep explorations would prove their theories. Others have held that the Homestake has an immense lenticularshaped ore body, coming up through the earth's crust like an immense chimney. The operations of the Belt Development company during the next few months will prove or disprove these theories.

The Big Bonanza and Buxton mining claims belong to the Portland company and Mr. Lundberg has been working them a number of years under lease, shipping the ore to smelters. The ore is too low grade to make it possible to smelt at a profit, after taking out the cost of mining and shipment. It has been tried with cyanide and found to be well adapted to the method. A body of ore over twenty feet across has been exposed by the excavations along the grade of the new Elkhorn railroad extension from Deadwood to Lead. The ore ! on a claim belonging to the Lockport Gold Mining company, composed of Deadwood and Lead individuals. Several assays have ledge, and but for the work on the railroad it is doubtful if it would have been discovered. The Lockport company expects to make shipments from the property.

Last cummer the tramway was built and the locomotive and cars were ordered at that time, but on account of the strike among the steel workers the order could not be filled. Small tram cars were accordingly used, the hauling being done with mules. The new locomotive and cars will be ready for use by the time the mill starts up, about the first of the coming month. The Garden City Mining company has held its annual election of directors and these were chosen: H. G. McGillis, J. R. LeBeau, George W. Crise, E. P. Peterson

Minnie Mining Vein Proves Rich.

A two-foot vein of good ore is being followed up on the ground of the Minnie Mining company, near the head of Strawberry guich, six miles southeast of Deadwood. The ore assays from $40 to $48 the ton and the wein is gradually widening. Nelson Shaw is working the property under lease and is preparing to begin shipments of the ore to the Deadwood emelter. The Minnie Mining company is composed largely of Deadwood citizens and the ground is situated next to the Golden Crest, from which a large amount of ore was shipped several years ago by the original owner, Fred Webber.

Near the Minnie the Stanchion group of claims is being developed by John Baggaley and others of Deadwood, the owners. A tunnel is being driven on a vertical of fair grade ore, which is improving with work. A proposition to lease has been made to the owners by miners who are employed on the property.

The new cyanide plant that is being built by the Homestake company at Central City is expected to be completed and ready to start up early in the summer The foundation walls have been finished and the superstructure is being raised. The frame is of Oregon fir, which is re-ceived at Deadwood and hauled to the site of the mill with teams.

When complete the plant will have capacity of 600 tons a day and will receive the tailings from three stamp mills on the north side of the hill, the Deadwood-Terra-Caledonia and Father DeSmet to be conveyed to the plant in pipes.

The tailings from the Deadwood-Terra and Caledonia stamp mills are allowed to escape at present, there being no means of handling them. The company gives the tailings from the Father DeSmet mill to John F. Henton and Charles Henley, who are treating part of them in a small cyanide plant at Central City, piping from the stamp mill to their plant.

Prosperity in Black Hills.

Business is better at Keystone this winter than it has ever been in the past. All the miners are employed, claim owners are unusually active in development work and as a consequence the merchants are having a good trade, many of them having been compelled to increase their facili-ties for handling the business.

There is not a vacant store building or dwelling house in the town and the popula-tion is gaining at a lively rate. Many new houses have been erected during the year to accommodate the added number of miners and mill men incident to the operations of the Elizabeth Mining company and other concerns.

STATE RESTS AND DEFENSE DEMURS

Judge Burns Rules that Evidence Warrants the Case Going to Jury -Defendant Shows Signs of Breaking Down.

PLATTSBURG, Mo., Jan. 22 .- The name of Stewart Fife, the young society man arrested recently at North Yakima, Wash., on a charge of murdering Frank Richardson, the Savannah merchant, was brought in frequently today at the trial of Mrs. Addie L. Richardson, widow of the dead

Judge Burns decided an important point for the state by admitting evidence that might tend to show Mrs. Richardson's relations with Fife, which the defense yesterday had sought to keep out, and R. A. Morris testified to seeing the couple together on different occasions.

The most important witness of the day was Bruce Stanton, a clerk in the Fife-Richardson store, who told of a quarrel between Richardson and Fife in the pres-ence of witness and Mrs. Richardson when all four were walking toward the Richardson home. "Richardson," said the witness, who had been cursing Fife, turned or him finally and told him he would have to keep away from Mrs. Richardson. Fife told him to shut up his mouth or he would shut it up for him. Richardson and Fife started toward each other, and I told Richardson to get into the house."

Looks Like Fife's Revolver. Charles Glaser, a clerk in the store, was shown a revolver, found five blocks from the scene of the murder, and believed it to be the weapon with which Richard son was killed. It looked like Fife's revolver, he said, but he could not be sure Frank Knickerbocker, mayor of Savannah, who is one of the attorneys for Stewart Fife, told of a conversation had with Mrs. Richardson after the murder, when she had told him she heard someone approaching the house with Mr. Richardson It was Knickerbocker's impression at the time that Richardson shot himself.

Nora Terhune was at the Richardson house soon after the murder. Mrs. Richardson had told her that her husband dropped half way in the hall and that she had dragged him into the room. When an effort was made to prevent Mrs. Richardson from returning to the room where her husband lay dead she had said: "I know more about this than anyone

The witness identified an overcoat as that worn by Richardson at the time. She did not notice that it was rumpled. The overcoat is expected by the defense to afford proof of Mrs. Richardson's statement that she dragged the body into the State Rests Its Case. The state rested its case this afternoon when the prosecuting attorney announced that he had no further evidence to offer in support of the charge against Mrs. Richardson. The defense immediately thereafter filed a demurrer to the state's evidence and asked that the case be taken out of the hands of the jury. It was conended by the attorneys for the defense that the state's evidence was meager and had failed to prove that Mrs. Richardson fired the shot or aided or abetted the act.

When the demurrer was filed the jury was taken from the room. Judge Burnes stated that while there had not been enough evidence regarding the relations Mrs. Richardson and Stewart Fife to show a motive for the crime, there was enough evidence to justify him in allowing the case to go to the jury.

Leonard McDaniel, Carl Gunther and Otto Byers were the last witnesses to testify for the state. They were reserved for the last as the strongest witnesses of the prosecution, as their testimony was relied upon to support the claim that Mrs. Rich-January 7.
